Artisan Non-U.S. Small-Cap Growth Strategy Evolves Into Non-U.S. Small-Mid Growth Strategy

Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Artisan Partners announced today that Artisan Non-U.S. Small-Cap Growth Strategy has been renamed Non-U.S. Small-Mid Growth Strategy. Rezo Kanovich, formerly of OppenheimerFunds, serves as the strategy's lead portfolio manager and sole decision maker.

Mr. Kanovich has 19 years of investment experience, including six years as the portfolio manager of the Oppenheimer International Small-Mid Company Fund prior to joining Artisan Partners in October. Mr. Kanovich is supported by a dedicated team of research analysts, whom have worked with him previously. The New York-based team is now part of the Artisan Partners Global Equity Team.

With the strategy's name change comes increased degrees of freedom, including flexibility to invest in both small- and mid-cap companies around the globe. Since Artisan Partners was founded in 1994, the firm has steadily expanded the investment flexibility of its existing strategies and launched new strategies with greater degrees of freedom in an effort to "increase the investment teams' ability to generate alpha and manage risk within the constraints required by clients," explained Artisan Partners President and CEO Eric Colson. The changes made to the Non-U.S. Small-Mid Growth Strategy are consistent with that evolutionary process.

Mr. Colson added, "Rezo is a natural fit for our talent-driven business model. He brings to Artisan a well-defined investment philosophy that aligns with the Global Equity team's focus on companies that offer long-term opportunities for growth. In addition, he brings a history of successfully managing a differentiated portfolio of international small- and mid-cap stocks. We are confident that our partnership with Rezo will result in successful long-term outcomes for our clients, investors and the firm."

Investment Risks: International investments involve special risks, including currency fluctuation, lower liquidity, different accounting methods and economic and political systems, and higher transaction costs. These risks typically are greater in emerging markets. Securities of small- and medium-sized companies tend to have a shorter history of operations, be more volatile and less liquid and may have underperformed securities of large companies during some periods. Growth securities may underperform other asset types during a given period. International investments involve special risks, including currency fluctuation, lower liquidity, different accounting methods and economic and political systems, and higher transaction costs. These risks typically are greater in emerging markets. Investments will rise and fall with market fluctuations and investor capital is at risk. Investors investing in strategies denominated in non-local currency should be aware of the risk of currency exchange fluctuations that may cause a loss of principal.
